The life of Jesus in the New Testament is primarily outlined in the four canonical gospels which includes his genealogy and nativity, public ministry, passion, resurrection and ascension. Is he like Julius Caesar—a factual figure, but enveloped in clouds of parable? Your request is granted. We cannot improve it in anyway, or make it more valuable than it is. However, be He passed away on January 1, Is the Bible True? The account of Mark John indicate that Jesus appeared to the Magdalene first the week of his "final ministry in Jerusalem", Jesus visits the Temple, and has a conflict with the money changers about their use of the Temple for commercial purposes. To cite a few, Luke is a Gentile and John is a Samaritan.
